

Good Afternoon,

We wanted to share a few updates before our next Steering Committee meeting on Wednesday, November 3 from 4-5 p.m. An agenda will be shared next week prior to the meeting.

- The Community Resilience Forum took place last week on Thursday. Thanks to Sandy Hunt and her team for coordinating the session. You can view the meeting recording by clicking here:

This recording is not for sharing with the public. I have also attached some of the notes captured on the flip chart from participants.

- At our meeting next week we will discuss plans to gather further input from our community. We would like to get started on the circulation of the community survey and scheduling more small group meetings/focus groups for those who have already expressed interest in participating. Please find attached the draft discussion guide for focus group meetings and the link to the most recent survey can be found here: Public Survey Preview
